CREATIVE LAB

The inspiration behind this innovative agency was a desire to change the status quo in the fields of media and image - a well-worn cliché, but one that would quickly take flight. Born of a common enthusiasm for painting, fashion, graphic design and advertising, Colagene was founded in Montreal in 2001. Co-founders Brisson and Sillard, both passionate about design in all its forms, got off to an explosive start and steadily began to build a community of exceptional artists.

Very early on, illustration became the main focus of their project - Colagene's visionary spirit breathed new life into the traditional market of image production, and the agency soon found its way into market niches. The response to the venture was overwhelming, and in 2003, the team started earning recognition for its work through various competitions and prestigious contracts. Armed with enthusiasm and ambition, the agency worked its charm on North America, followed by Europe.

By popular demand, and supported by a growing number of partnerships, in 2008 Colagene opened a second branch in Paris. A London office soon followed in 2009, with the agency setting its sights on new creative challenges. The resulting richness of its portfolio is the mark of a fresh and distinctive spirit, a special stylistic touch made possible by the inspiration and cultural influence of its members.

STRATEGIC AESTHETICS CLINIC

Colagene has a reputation as an innovative and competitive illustration agency - renowned for its unique concept, insatiable thirst for new challenges, and above all, the quality of managerial involvement in projects. Our trademark is the Clinic, a customized service that aims to emphasize beauty in business projects. At Colagene, 'taking care of your image' is more than just a figure of speech - for every project, we highlight the best qualities, using surgical precision to give life to innovative visuals.

PHILOSOPHY

Through the beauty of images, we believe in the power of creation, in personalized communications, and in excellence through the execution of thoughtful concepts: a vision that combines an awareness of contemporary trends and expertise.

MISSION

Colagene is a creative operation that gives a face to ideas. In our work, we position illustration as the visual launching pad for possibilities that are original and infinite: our artistic expertise is available for your most diverse projects. Our mission is to deliver projects that are more than just aesthetically pleasing - we are committed to providing a productive and professional experience for every one of our collaborations.
